orfix – protecting nature. Protecting people.

As a family-run medium-sized company, we do not pay lip service to sustainable action and the protection of the environment, but rather express our ecological responsibility. This is why orfix has been addressing the issue of sustainability in a holistic sense for years, not least through the initiative of our shareholders at home and abroad.

In times of climate change, scarcity of resources and the endangerment of the natural basis of life we invested here early on in order to act in an economically, ecologically and socially sustainable manner. Our corporate strategy is also designed for holistic sustainable management in the future.

Certified environmental and quality management systems support us in successfully implementing our strategy for the benefit of the environment, our employees, our stakeholders and our company.

Our sustainability report, which we have written on the basis of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), provides you with a comprehensive overview of our progress in the areas of economy, ecology, social affairs and corporate governance.
